Her finest hour

YESTERDAY we outlined how the Soviet Premier Mr Khrushchev could make a decisive contribution to the easing of international tension. Today we examine the other face of the coin to see the role the United States must play. It lies in the support it gives to the United Nations. For the UN is today in imminent danger of fading out to an ignominious death, just as its parent organisation, the League of Nations died when its timid sponsors refused to stand up to the bullies who threatened her existence.

Because, at times, history does repeat herself, it is worthwhile to examine the causes which led to the death of the older organisation if only to see if the mistakes of the past can be invoked to solve the problems of the present.

THE League of Nations failed, primarily, because the greatest president America has given to the world since Abraham Lincoln, received no support from his own people. Wilson was a man who cared more for the United States of the World than he did for the United States of America, and in asking his people to endorse his worldwide statesmanship, he was despised and his own received him not.

Yet Wilson was right, and if the United States after World War I had possessed the vision to see beyond the jazz age and the accumulation of gold, Hitler and Mussolini would never have risen to power.

A SECOND chance is given to a few men and fewer nations, and now America has the opportunity to save the United Nations, the world, and herself. In order to do that, she must acquire a dignity in keeping with the role she is called upon to play.

She must not allow the taunts of Khrushchev or the swashbuckling of Castro to goad her to retaliate at their level, for should she do so, and thus lose her position among the free nations, the rest is lost.

SHE must not allow the timid members of the United Nations to be bullied out of their opinions and frightened into casting their votes for the threatening powers. At the moment America is in a position to do this, but the free world asks: Are her people ready to make the sacrifices necessary to back such a policy?

The Americans, with their unlimited generosity have proved to the world that they are not only ready, but exceedingly willing to make material sacrifices. But to ask a nation to place world interests before national interests is something that has never been achieved in spite of the fine talk to the contrary.

AMERICA is young but rich in history. This could be her finest hour. To stand with dignity for the rights of every decent individual; to stand sponsor for the highest aspirations men entertain of themselves; to support mankind in its first stumbling approach to world-wide decency. And to remove for ever these doubts conceived in the spiritual anguish of a doom-bomb checkmate doom-bomb checkmate.

If America will do this, then mankind will pass historically from an age of fear to an age in which the intelligence of the people shall be used in the interests of the people.

Cabinet to decide on MP's trip to United Nations
MR K WILLING TO MEET MAC*Declaration at informal NY press conference*

New York, Sept. 21.

The Soviet Premier Mr Khrushchev, said today he would have no objection to meeting the British Prime Minister Mr Harold Macmillan if Mr Macmillan desired to meet him.

He made the remark during a shouting interview with reporters from the balcony of the Soviet mission building on Park Avenue.

A London report said Mr Macmillan would hold a meeting of his Cabinet today to decide whether he should fly to New York to address the UN General Assembly.

Influential observers have confidently predicted that Mr Macmillan, a persistent advocate of top-level diplomacy, will make the New York trip.

No official announcement is expected before the weekend and if he goes it is unlikely to be before next Tuesday or Wednesday.

The Soviet leader, in addition to his reference to a meeting with Mr Macmillan, discussed Russian-Chinese relations, disarmament, the Congo, and future meetings with other world leaders at one of the most extraordinary press conferences that even the ebullient Mr Khrushchev has ever held.

New York, Sept. 21.

United Press International photographer Joel Landau, reported that police had requested him to take his camera apart for inspection 17 times today following the reported "camera gun plot" against Mr Khrushchev.

Landau, on duty in front of the United Nations building, photographed delegations and delegates, used an omnibus Swedish Hasselblad camera with a special two-foot-long Telecopic lens device for taking long-distance pictures.—UPI.

Daring
robbery

Brighton, Sept. 21.

The reporters shouted their questions from the street below.

He disclosed that he expected to hold talks, possibly private ones, with President Tito of Yugoslavia and President Nasir of the United Arab Republic.

He repeated the known Soviet stand on the Congo and on disarmament and once said he was "under house arrest." But he said this jokingly, in a reference to the tight security measures which have restricted his movement.

This was a vintage Khrushchev performance.

He commanded the balcony like a player in a Shakespearean production. His smiling and gestures were broad, his words deeply etched on his mobile features, and his hands played in the air at times like a conductor.

The robbery was discovered when the train driver became suspicious of the red signal, passed it, and pulled into Preston Park Station.

A Post Office spokesman said some registered mail was involved. No further details were available.—China Mill Special.

All is not well
in the streets
of New York

From RENE MacCOLL

New York, Sept. 22.

If the current session of the UN General Assembly is aimed at promoting the cause of peace, all I can say is that it has got away to a dismal start.

Violent and brawling continues in various parts of New York. Citizens are being beaten senseless by embattled police. The New York Police Chief is squabbling with the Soviet secret police chief, and on the floor of the Assembly there was a bitter protest on the first day at the State Department's allegedly bad behaviour towards foreign visitors.

This came from Yugoslavia's Foreign Minister, Koca Popovic, who interrupted his routine speech welcoming the admission of 14 new nations to demand from Mr Christian Herter who was listening that urgent steps be taken to halt the picketing and insulting posters which greet Red chiefs whenever they put a nose out of the door.

APPROVAL

Mr Khrushchev listened intently to this protest and nodded his head in vehement approval. Earlier he himself had protested because his chief of secret police, General Nikolai Zaharov, was plucked from his feet and held in the air for some time by an irate cop because he had been pushing every one around during Mr Khrushchev's Harlem visit.

It is thought these won't be the only protests heard in the Assembly. Mr Khrushchev will probably criticise, and I bet Castro will make a few remarks about his hotel cash demand which is supposed to have prompted his move to Harlem.

The U.S. will contribute any high flying aircraft needed for aerial inspection and Eisenhower will also suggest that pilots fly them, should be recruited by the UN. It is predicted he will urge that UNO be given greater powers and responsibility.

HK woman to
from Canada

Toronto, Sept. 21.

A Chinese woman, whose son is a Canadian citizen by virtue of his birth, will be deported to Hongkong with the boy.

The Ontario Court of Appeal today upheld the order of the Immigration Department to deport Mrs Louie Yuet Sun who came to Canada in 1957 on a non-immigrant visa to visit her father, Harry Toy, proprietor of a chop suey firm in Hull, Quebec.

About eight months after her arrival the 30-year-old woman gave birth to a son, David. She had left her husband and two other children in Hongkong when she came to Canada.

After the birth of her son, Mrs Louie applied for an immigrant's visa but was turned down by the Department of Immigration and ordered deported.

APPEALED

She appealed against the order and last year Mr Justice J. M. King, who upheld the appeal, said: "The baby would be deprived of its Canadian rights if it were forced to leave the country with his mother. It seems to me that a natural born Canadian citizen has certain rights from birth and one of those is the right to live in Canada."

In court today the woman's counsel, Mr G. A. Mackay, argued that since she had the baby in Canada she should be allowed to remain here.

However, Mr Justice R. E. Laidlaw replied that the fact Mrs Louie had a child in Canada does not take her out of the provisions of the Immigration Act.

Mr Mackay said that under the Bill of Rights Mrs Louie is entitled to remain in Canada with her child.

Justice Laidlaw, "The Bill of Rights is not so," said. Mr Mackay argued that the Bill was never intended to nullify the force and effects of the Immigration Act. She is still liable to deportation.—UPI.

British oil company's take-over bid

London, Sept. 21. The British Petroleum Company—more than half of whose shares are owned by the Government—is making a £11,500,000 take-over bid for Apex (Trinidad) Oil Fields Limited. It was announced here tonight.

Apex holds oil rights in Trinidad comprising 6,475 acres and last year produced about three million barrels of crude oil. In the 1959 balance sheet the company had assets of nearly £7 million.

The Apex Board stated here tonight that it had reached agreement with B.P. on the terms of its offer for the Apex issued capital and could recommend shareholders to accept.

The offer subject to the usual conditions is £1 of ordinary B.P. stock plus 4/6d. for each stock unit of 5/- of Apex.

On the London Stock Exchange today B.P. shares finished at 47.9. With the cash payment the offer is therefore estimated at 52.3 per Apex share.—Renter.

Commonwealth countries must be protected

London, Sept. 21. The Commonwealth Finance Ministers in their two-day meeting which ended here today agreed that in any negotiations concerning Britain and the European trading blocs, "The essential interests of Commonwealth countries should be safeguarded," according to an official communiqué tonight.

The communiqué issued after the Commonwealth Economic Consultative Council meeting said:

"The Council discussed the economic problems in relation to Commonwealth trade and investment arising from the creation of the European Economic Community and the European Free Trade Association."

Concern

"United Kingdom ministers expressed their concern at the possibility of growing economic division in Europe."

"The council recognised the importance of political and economic unity in Western Europe."

"It was accepted that in any negotiations that take place the essential interests of Commonwealth countries should be safeguarded and full account taken of the continuing importance of intra-Commonwealth trade."

Aid to Africa

Tonight's communiqué also announced it had been decided to initiate a special Commonwealth African assistance plan.

The communiqué said: "As requested by the Commonwealth Prime Ministers in their communiqué on May 13, the Council examined the question of co-operative action among members of the Commonwealth in assisting Commonwealth countries (including dependent territories) in Africa."

"They noted that Commonwealth countries, with others, were already providing aid bilaterally and were also making substantial resources available through existing international organisations.

The expert, Mr. Philippe Schereschewsky from the UN Technical Assistance Board, has been here to look into the feasibility of a proposal to set up a $500 million iron and steel mill on the island state. Mr. Schereschewsky said: "I do not pretend that natural resources are not enormous assets, but it is remarkable to see that people with so few natural resources have developed and progressed."

He quoted Switzerland and Japan to substantiate his point. "Switzerland," he said, "has no natural resources, but it has a first-class hard-working and well-educated population, and they have done exceedingly well."

Encouragement for Singapore industry

From GORDON HUNG

Singapore, Sept. 21. A United Nations technical expert has told Singapore that she need not be pessimistic about her future just because she had no natural resources.

The expert, Mr. Philippe Schereschewsky from the UN Technical Assistance Board, has been here to look into the feasibility of a proposal to set up a $500 million iron and steel mill on the island state.

Mr. Schereschewsky said: "I do not pretend that natural resources are not enormous assets, but it is remarkable to see that people with so few natural resources have developed and progressed."

The communiqué said it is expected that most Commonwealth countries will provide assistance mainly in the form of technical assistance of various kinds, "including the provision of experts, training facilities or equipment, or of the sharing of experience gained in dealing with development problems."

It added: "Assistance will be given bilaterally and by increased support of existing international organisations and contact will be maintained with those organisations and with other governments which are active in this field."

ADVANTAGES

Turning to Japan, he said: "Although Japan has some natural resources, she has a lot of imports of raw materials."

He said Singapore had a lot of "privileged advantages." Four of the most important ones were:

A far-sighted geographic location;

An educated and cultured population;

A population that was hard-working; and Great trading experience.

Mr. Schereschewsky said he was very impressed with the eagerness of the people of Singapore to learn.

He said that the Singapore Polytechnic and the Naval Base Apprentice School would have a good selection for the future industrial personnel of the state.

London closes strong

London, Sept. 21. Stocks recovered today smartly up giving industrials their best showing in two weeks.

The blue chips saluted out in front with a long list of gains. Wall Street's better overnight look and a flow of good company news sparked a new wave of buying interest. Imperial Chemical Industries surged nearly three shillings higher to 69s 7d.

Lancashire Cotton jumped three shillings and nine pence to 72s 10½d. and Courtaulds met demand. Steels and engineers shared the upward movement. Electricals also improved.

HIGHER GROUND

Woolworths paced a buoyant stores section. Both Phillips Lemm and Unilever issues moved into higher ground among the internationals.

BITTER LAOTIAN STRUGGLE SPREADS COMMUNIST AGENTS MURDERED

Big army meeting called for Vientiane, Sept. 21. King Savang Vatthana of Laos today called a meeting of his army commanders throughout the country after a clash east of here yesterday between opposing units of the divided armed forces.

Official Government sources said both General Ouan Rattikhone, Commander of the forces loyal to Prince Souvanna Phouma's neutralist Government, and the right-wing revolutionary leader, General Phoumi Nosavan, had been summoned to the Royal capital of Luang Prabang for peace talks.

The sources said it was also possible that Prince Souvanna would attend the meeting in his capacity as defence minister.

Three killed

General Phouma, whose headquarters are at Savannakhet, Southern Laos, was defence minister in the pro-western government of Mr Thao Son-sath ousted in a paratroop coup last month.

General Ouan said three members of the revolutionary forces had been killed in yesterday's clash and an unknown number wounded. Three government soldiers were wounded.

General Ouan said General Phouma's forces, which had been advancing on Vientiane, were pushed back in yesterday's clash.

Vientiane radio, quoting well-informed sources, said today that loyal forces had also repelled four companies of revolutionary troops about 85 miles south of Vientiane near the Mekong River on Monday. The troops had been

U.S. denies charge

Meanwhile, the State Department tonight dismissed as "malicious and completely without foundation" a Russian charge that the United States was guilty of "gross interference in the internal affairs of Laos."

The denial was issued a few hours after the Soviet Government had accused America and other Seato countries—particularly Siam and South Vietnam—of inciting armed revolt against the Neutralist Government of Prince Souvanna Phouma.

The Russians alleged that America was reinforcing her main forces in the area and that Siamese ships had bombarded Laotian vessels.

It said it was "impossible to ignore" actions "aimed at unleashing civil war in Laos" and warned that the situation was " fraught with dangerous consequences" for peace in Southeast Asia.

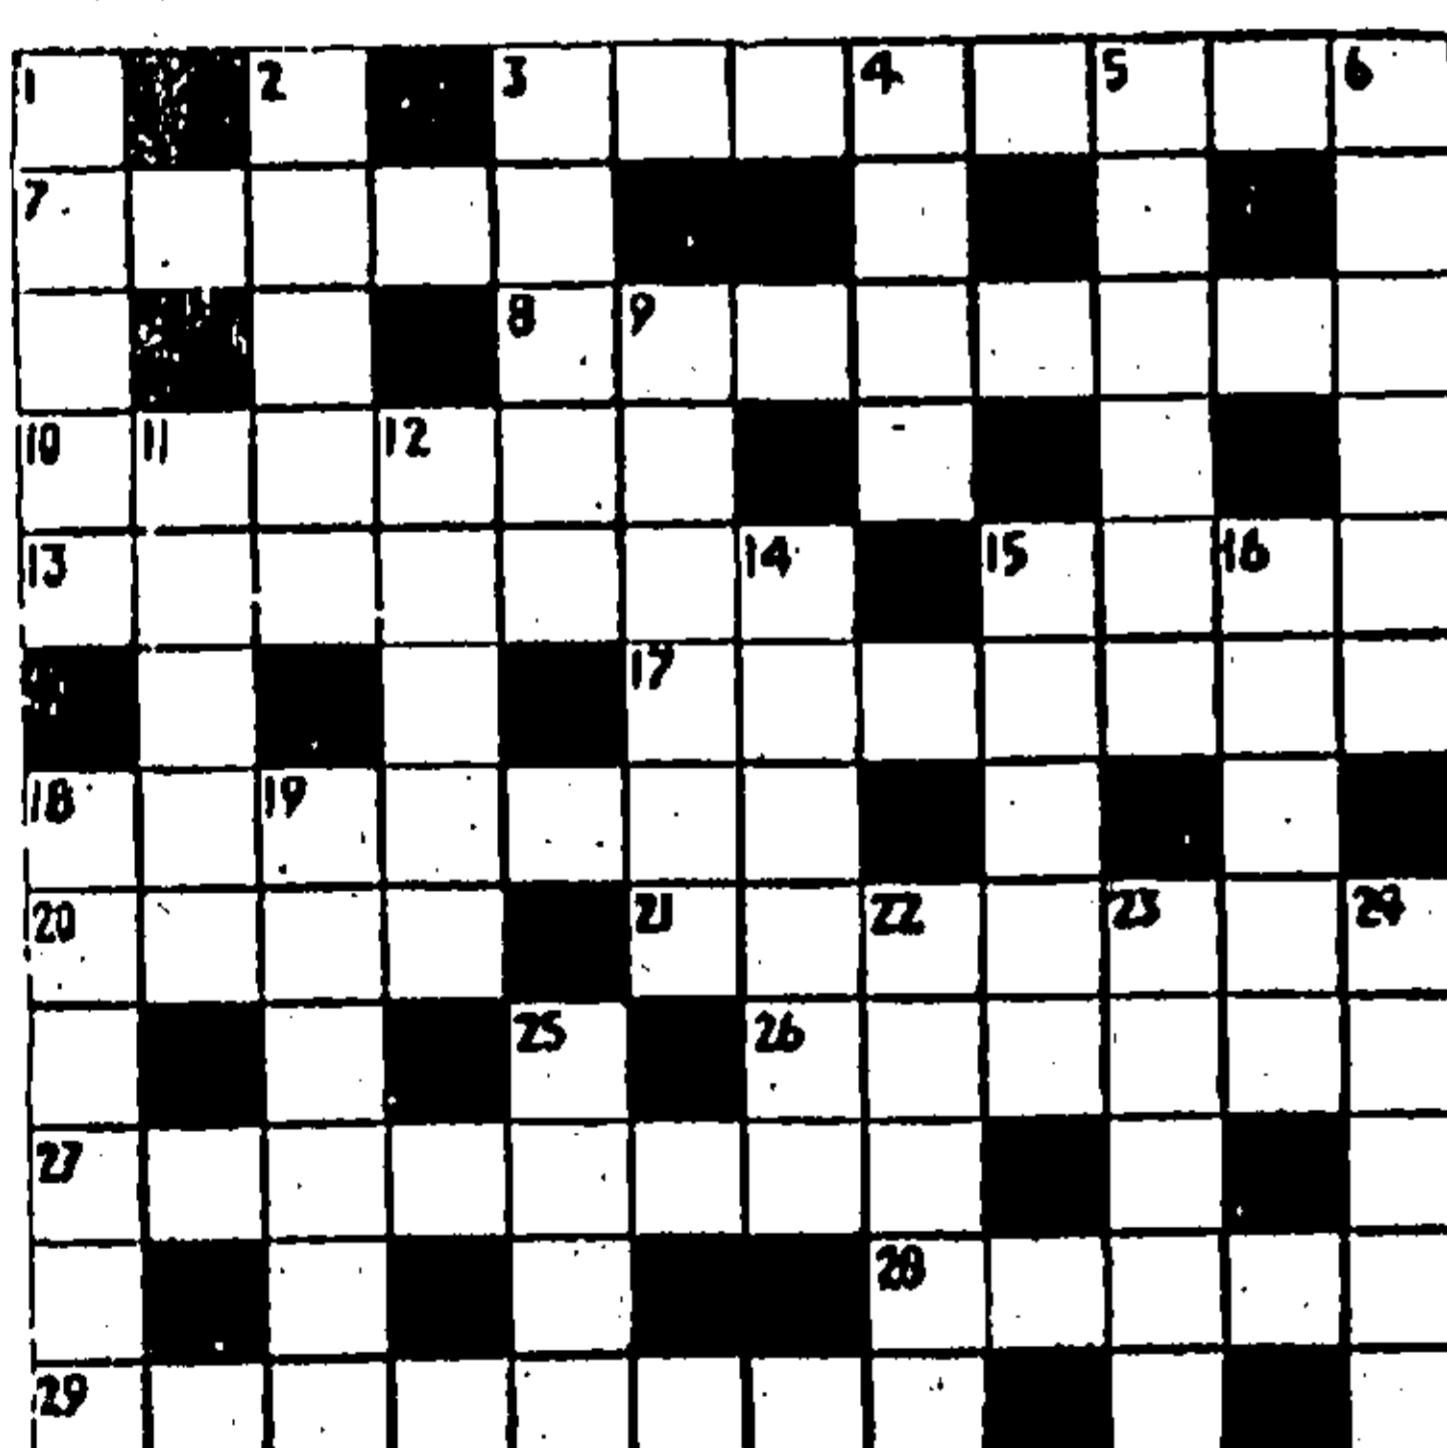

The American denial said the State Department suspected that the Moscow allegations might be in response to a plea from Prince Souvanna Phouma, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, and half-brother of Prince Souvanna Phouma.—Reuter.

Hammarskjold threatens to use force in Congo Blunt warning to Tshombe

United Nations, Sept. 21. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold has threatened to use the United Nations Congo peace force to stop massacres of civilian villagers by troops of secessionist Katanga province, it was announced today.

Hammarskjold, in a cable to Katanga president Moise Tshombe, warned bluntly that "it is the duty of the United Nations force to protect the civilian population and this duty is in no way restricted by rule of U.N. non-intervention in domestic conflicts."

Meanwhile in Leopoldville, Colonel Joseph Mobutu, army Commander-in-Chief, said tonight he had called for the withdrawal of Guineans and Chadians from the UN Congo force following the discovery of "Communists, Guineans and President Kwame Nkrumah of Ghana."

He said that if the troops were not withdrawn "it will be a question for our general staff." The Colonel—who claims to have "neutralized" the rival politicians and suspended their rule—did not elaborate.

He said he had also ordered the expulsion of Mr Serge Michel, Mr Lumumba's press officer, and Madame Andree Blouin, who is regarded as an influential adviser to the Lumumba Government.

EVIDENCE

Usually reliable African sources said Colonel Mobutu confronted several African embassies here yesterday with evidence of a plot to restore Mr Lumumba to power.

The evidence—three letters—was alleged to have been in Mr Lumumba's briefcase when he was arrested recently and held for a short while.

One of the letters was alleged to have come from President Kwame Nkrumah and a second from Conakry, Guinea, urging Mr Lumumba to trust nobody but the Guineans and Communists.

The third, allegedly signed by Mr Antoine Gizega, Mr Lumumba's Deputy Premier, called for 30 Czech technicians to take up posts in the Congolese administration.

The spokesman told a press conference that a Congolese officer had told him that Colonel Mobutu "knew all about a plot between China and Guinea" to bring Mr Lumumba to power.

KIDNAPPED AND DRUGGED ENEMIES SPY REVEALS IN U.S.

Washington, Sept. 21. A documented report concerning abductions, drugs, terror and murder by Soviet and East German intelligence operators was sworn today by a former U.S. secret agent.

Theodore Hines testified at a public hearing of the U.S. Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

The witness said he was born in Germany in 1920, came to the U.S. as a student in 1937 and is now a naturalized American citizen.

Hines said he had 15 years experience in dealing with Communist espionage and counter-agents in Berlin.

ALLIES INADEQUATE

Hines said he had collected data on several hundred kidnappings, both in East and West Berlin, by Communist agents.

After detailing scores of individual cases, the soft-spoken and scholarly appearing witness said the U.S., British and French counter-espionage efforts in West Berlin and other contact points "were definitely inadequate."

He told of personal experience in checking use of drugged wines and candy by the Communist agents to aid in abduction of their suspects. In one case, he said, a pretty East German ballerina was used as bait to entice a West German political leader into East Berlin where he was captured and hurried off to a prison camp.

The witness said Soviet agents used murder in an effort to eliminate political foes and defectors.

Hines said he is convinced these slayings often are disguised as suicides.

Senator Olin D. Johnston who presided alone at the hearing asked photographers not to take pictures of Hines. He said this might injure the ability of the witness to serve as an intelligence agent in the future.

Hines testified that after service in the army he became a civilian intelligence agent, spending much of his time in Berlin and West Germany after World War II ended. He said he resigned in December of last year for personal reasons and returned to this country.—AP.

Sweet Daddy Grace leaves the fortune collected for the church

Washington, Sept. 21.

The Federal Internal Revenue Service says the late Charles M. (Sweet Daddy) Grace, Negro religious leader, controlled $9 bank and savings and loan accounts with balances totaling more than $1.8 million.

The service made this estimate in pleadings filed with the U.S. tax court. The Government has filed claims totalling nearly $8 million against the estate, unofficially valued up to $25 million.

The Revenue Service claims back taxes, penalties and interest in its action against the estate of the evangelist who died in Los Angeles on Jan. 12.

Reporters put an investigation of his finances through 1958. It said Grace underestimated his taxable income, each year from 1945 to 1958.

The service said Grace over the years "acquired many valuable hotels, apartment buildings, store buildings, residences and other properties," including the big Eldorado Towers apartment building near Central Park in New York City.

The papers filed in the tax court estimated Grace's followers at 3 million and said he established at least 108 "houses of prayer."

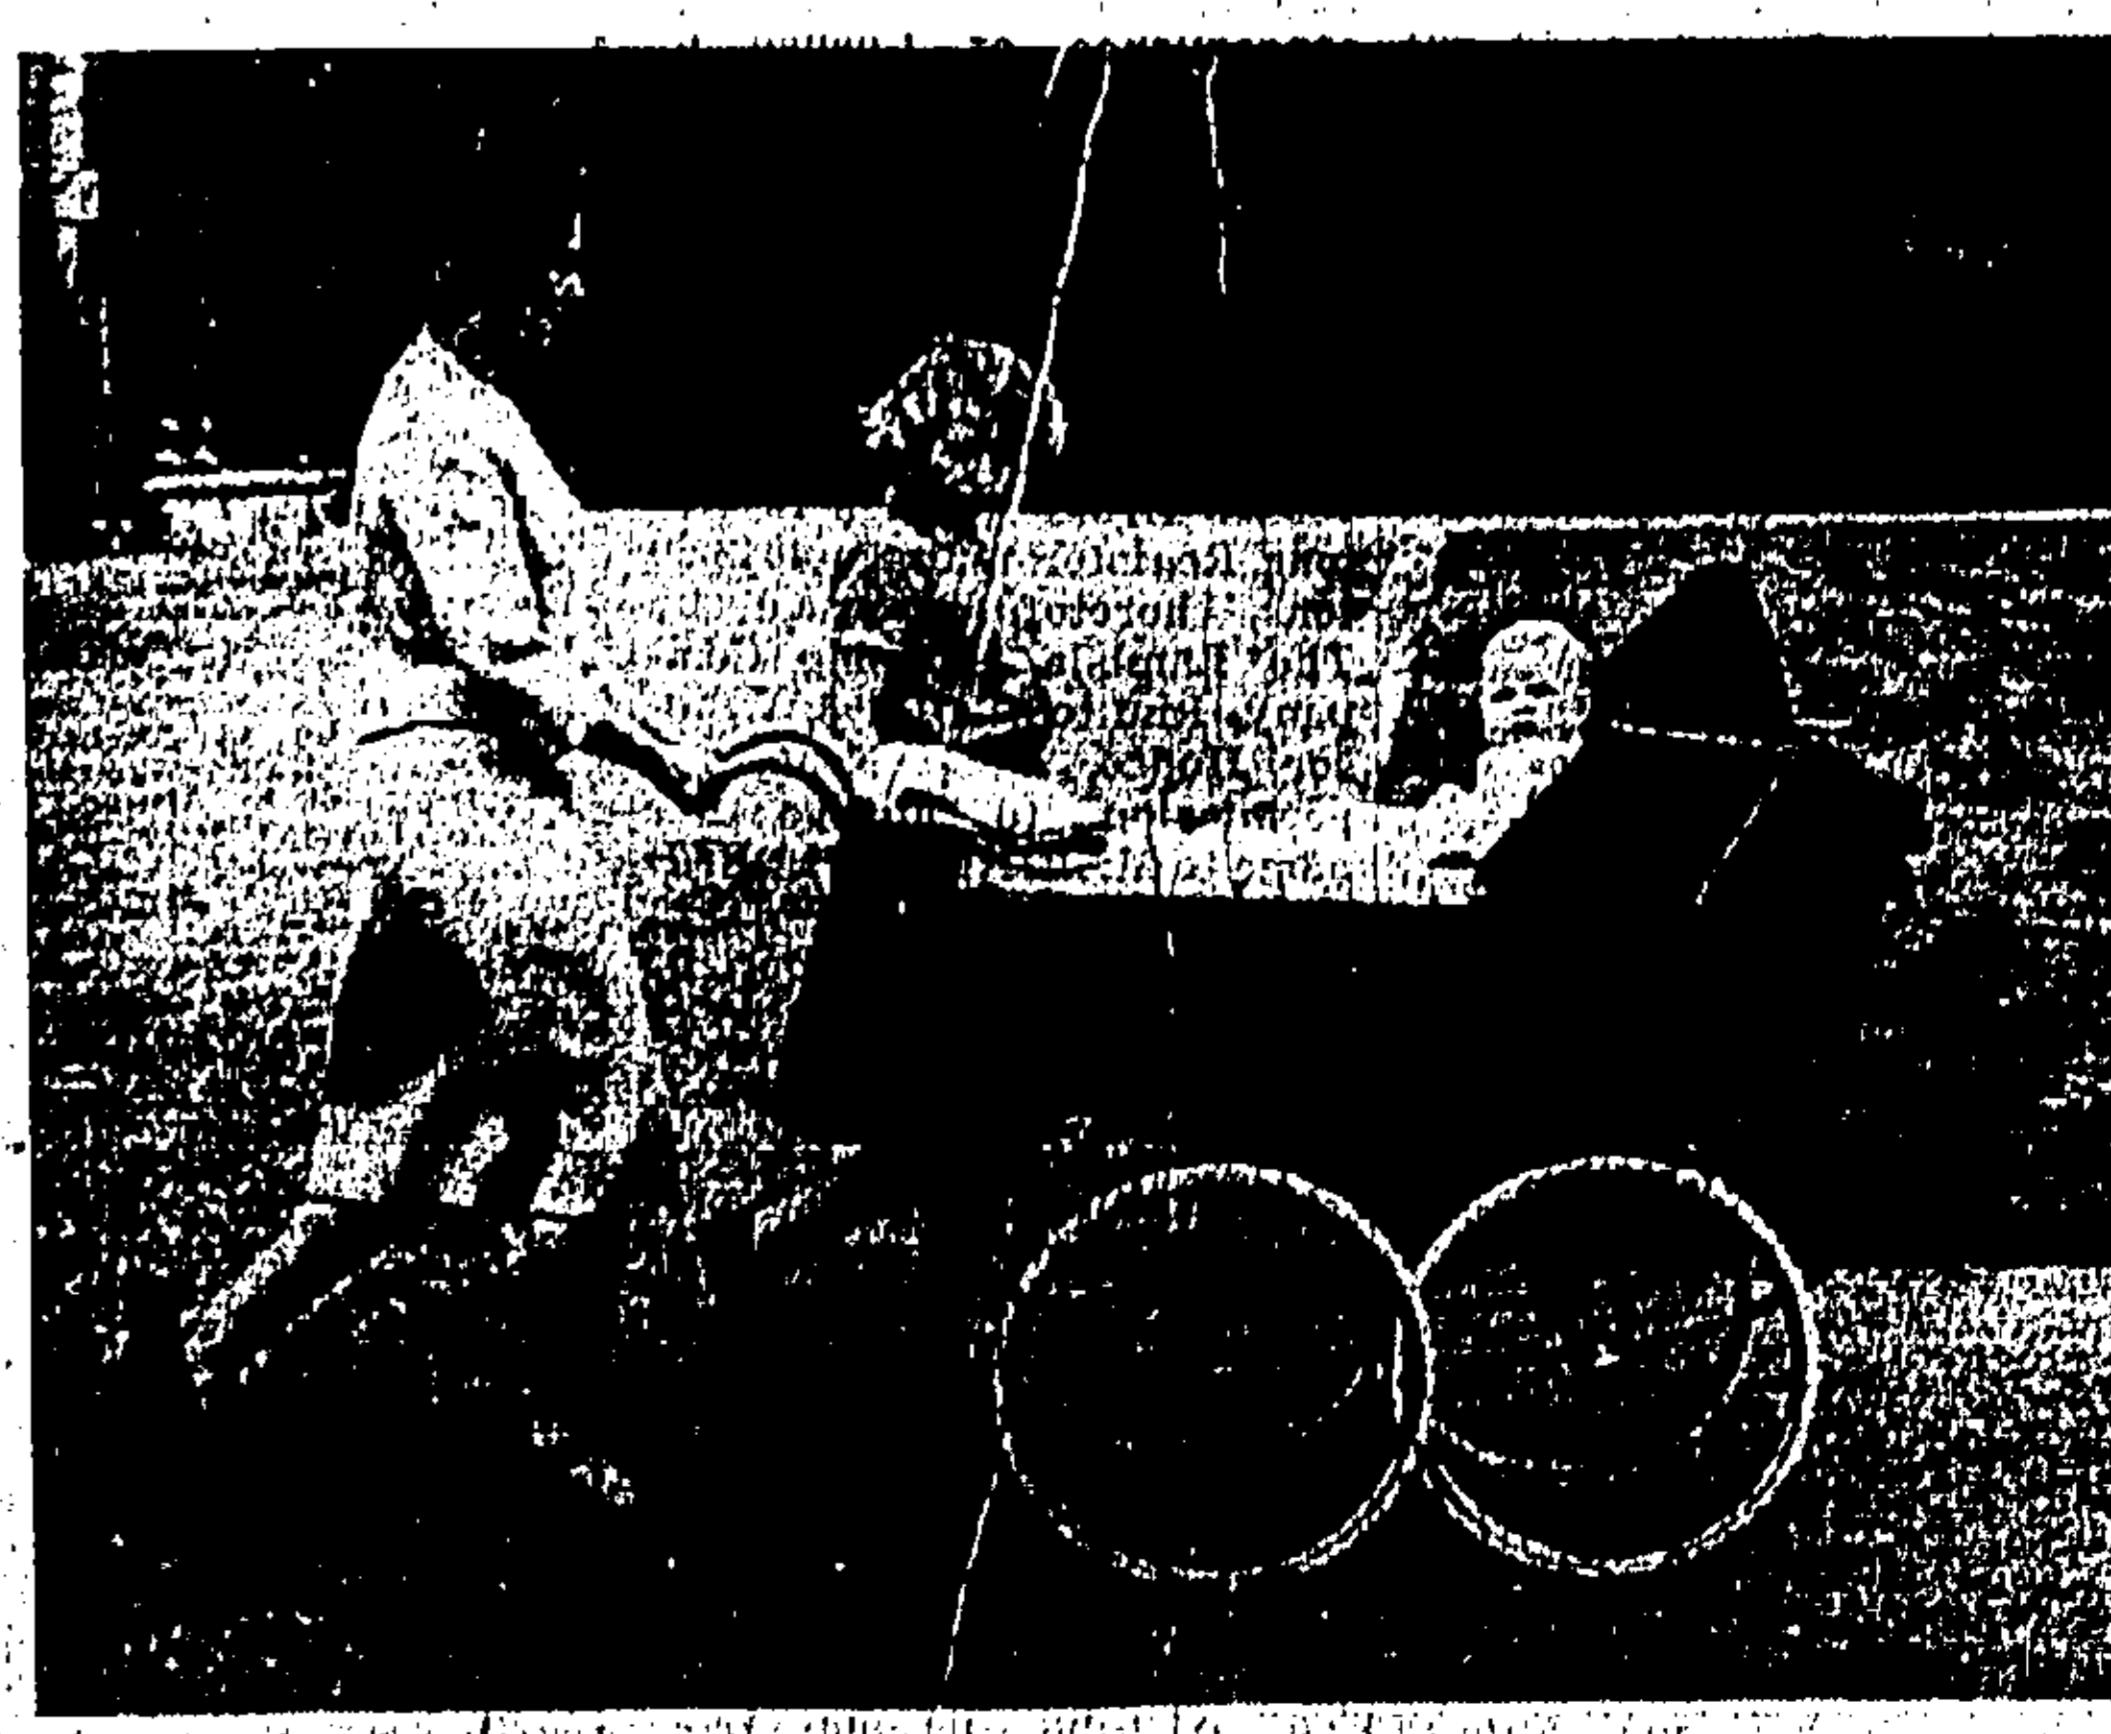

His visits to these establishments, in chauffeur-driven Cadillac, "were marked by large cash collections which were taken up and given to him," the service said.

It added that he obtained income also from such enterprises as restaurants, cafeterias, beauty parlors and the sale of "Sweet Daddy Grace" soap, lotion, hair dressing, writing paper, coffee, tea, cookies, emblems and calendars.

The revenue service said Grace, who was born in the Portuguese Cape Verde Islands in 1883 and never became a U.S. citizen, placed his real estate holdings in the name of the "Church of the House of Prayer for all People, Bishop Charles M. Grace, Trustee" and that the constitution of this organization provided that members "have no power to interfere with Grace or to judge him, as he shall be judged only by God."

The Grace estate, scattered over 14 states, the District of Columbia and Cuba, is enmeshed in states as well as federal tax litigation and suits among members of the religious organization have been filed over the succession to Grace's position.—AP.

the Soviet estate at Oyster Bay, Long Island, and making a trip to Washington, the capital.

"Security" is given as the reason for this containment and curfew, but that is only part of the story.

NASTY

The action by the State Department on instruction from the White House is a calculated step in the face for Khrushchev, and, inevitably, the Russian people themselves.

There is bound to be mean and nasty business this week. Officials of the United Nations say the organisation faces its biggest crisis.

Khrushchev's plans have not been announced; but the press and Pravda correspondents here expect him to see Margot Fonteyn in the Royal Ballet on Broadway, take a boat trip around Manhattan Island, and request time off the Columbia Broadcasting System and the National Broadcasting Corporation TV networks. He will hold at least two full-dress Press conferences.

The wicked weather has been a blow to Broadway, but Fonteyn and the Royal Ballet have crowded the Metropolitan Opera House and the well-known "Butchers of Broadway" put away their knives and strewed flowers in the great dancer's path.

Even before the hurricane hit Long Island it had done damage estimated at $2,000,000, killed more than 100 people in Puerto Rico, and approximately a dozen in Florida and the Carolinas.

New York's five boroughs—Richmond, Queens, Brooklyn, Bronx and most important Manhattan—have been battered by the wind and the downpour. Schools have been closed, basements flooded, and the police have been on emergency duty.

The other big opening on Broadway last week was Bette Davis in The World of Carl Sandburg. I went along to the Henry Miller's Theatre to watch a rehearsal. Leo Ericson conducted with Miss Davis, but she left him. She is as electric and exciting as when she played in The Petrified Forest with Leslie Howard and Humphrey Bogart.

The company is not sure what it will do if Mr Khrushchev, a bullet enthusiast, wants to visit backstage. It will probably receive him.

TRIUMPH FOR DAME MARGOT
The Broadway Butchers put away their knives and strewed flowers in her path. "I have never known anything like it," she said.

IN PROSPEROUS BRITAIN . . .

I have seen new hope in the valley that should have died

MERTHYR TYDFIL.
"THIS," I said to myself, "is the valley that should have died." I was standing on the slopes of Morlais Hill, looking down over the Merthyr Valley.

It was raining hard—and even if the rain was soft, and filling the reservoirs for Cardiff, it was very wet.

In fact, the landscape looked so bleak, so scarred, so squalid that you felt perhaps it would have been better if it had died. But then swept the rain out of my eyes. I remembered all the courage, the fortitude, the wisdom, and the saintliness of this valley that has made Merthyr Tydfil a school of suffering and recovery.

So I began to take stock—to take stock of a valley that is living history of the greed, the enterprise and the genius of men—and that is also the history of the decency and faith of the ordinary man and woman.

Depression

Why is this the valley that should have died? It should have died not only because of the world depression between the wars that reduced Merthyr to a town of soup kitchens and silent poverty.

It should have died because its reason for existence as an industrial area had disappeared.

Here below was the site of the greatest ironworks of the world in its time. It was one of the showplaces of the country, attracting visitors from all over the world who saw the iron might of Britain pouring from the furnaces, while 8000 men toiled at the task.

It was in this valley that Trevithick, the Cornishman, was the first to put a locomotive on rails. It was here that Heslerman experimented with making steel. It was here that Hirsel, the railway genius, made rails to the port of Cardiff.

BY
EDGAR

Here men of iron fought fierce battles. Here was drunkenness and devout prayer. Here from the slopes of the hills you looked down on a classical landscape of the Industrial Revolution.

It should have died this valley because it was no longer profitable to work the small coal-mines and it was cheaper to import Spanish ore than to use what remained in the hills.

In fact, even before the depression there was already migration out of the area.

I suppose the valley should now be like one of those deserted towns you can see in the west of America, in Colorado and Nevada mining towns so rich in their day that they had great hotels and Opera Houses, but now with the ending of the silver deposits the dust-storms and the rain on Morlais Hill I thought of the heroic times and the heroic men and women who created wealth and ugliness.

Beginning

It was not, in fact, Welshmen who started the coal-mining and iron-making on a big scale. Principally responsible was John Guest, a Shropshire man, who founded the Dowlais Works, and there was Crawshay, the Workshirer, who had his works over at Cyfarthfa.

As you come up from the coast you pass there clean modern, well-designed factories—the names are familiar ones: Hoovers, Mayers, Border and Lliss Brothers, who make toys. They and many others have made the valley cosy and prosperous.

This was a deliberate plan based on nation resources, and route to the port of Cardiff.

They were giants, these early men. John Josiah Guest was a very far-seeing man and almost kind by the standards of those days. He built schools and looked for technicians among the bright boys. And he also tried every new invention as soon as he heard of it.

The Crawshays were a different lot. They still talk with awe in the villages of "the Crawshay"—a fierce, demented man who drove himself and everybody around him.

They say there was no woman safe from him. And woe betide the husband or father who told him to keep his hands off their women.

There was no more work for them at Cyfarthfa.

He built a big model castle and laid out extensive grounds. Now these are the town garden and the house has become a grammar school.

In these boom days of the 19th century Merthyr Tydfil was one great mining camp—with all the drunkenness, hazard and gambling that you get in such towns.

They say there were 27 pubs on the road heading up to the Dowlais Works. Living conditions were terrible, but every day there were migrants from all over the country clamouring for work at the doors.

But at the same time, there was growing up that blustery strict Nonconformist which brought religion and faith to many of those who worked in the bowels of the earth.

The min had just about stopped, as I came down the hill. I suppose inevitably one asks oneself, was all this activity, was all this wealth and power, was all this misery and suffering worthwhile?

An academic question because it happened, and now happier days have come to the valley. Even the hills of slag are slowly being covered with grass and bushes, so that at times you can scarcely tell whether the hills are artificial or natural.

You know? Perhaps, with winds, it may be terrible, for Merthyr and many other industrial areas to combine both beauty and industry.

This is about as likely to happen as for the newspapers, radio, and television not to report the coming of the Devil himself.

The preliminaries to the Khrushchev arrival are very disquieting. "Khrushchev is bringing a cut-throat boatload." "Cast of villains due here on Monday. Red invasion news."

The visit of Nasser is worrying the New York Police Department almost as much as that of Khrushchev. There are 2,500,000 Jews in New York City and they all hate Nasser.

As he is head of the United Arab Republic and a listed neutral, there will be no restraint upon Nasser's travels in the United States.

LUCKY

The Egyptian Consul General here says: "I won't be surprised if President Nasser decided to visit San Francisco and perhaps Hollywood."

Hollywood, where the film business is almost entirely run by Jewish people!

We face two weeks of turbulence and big trouble.

Hungary's János Kadar will be lucky if only bodies and not bullets greet him. Fidel Castro, who is also here, will at least have his band singed.

At the UN there will be 300 guards on duty this week, instead of the usual 200.

The delegates' lounge at UN headquarters has been jammed for the past week, and only the Americans and a few Canadians think that the United States was right in eagling and curbing Khrushchev, who will rattle the bars and perhaps break through them.

We have had one hurricane last week but its violence and fury will be nothing compared to the one that will hit New York this week.

ANGRY

Donna the Hurricane, the most destructive storm on record, has driven me from my hide-out on Westhampton Beach, Long Island, and how long the sand castle will stand is anybody's guess.

I got out my portable typewriter, portable television set, and some clothes but left the beach furniture behind.

The weather was angry then and the dune road was washed. There were no storm patrols but our car drive was a nightmare through torrential rain on flooded highways and over blocked bridges.

We had not planned to board the boat at Westhampton until mid-October, but the rains came and the big wind blew and there was no choice but to retreat before Donna.

"A TRIUMPH, superb, magnificent, superlative, there's nothing like a Dame Margot Fonteyn."

Margot was in tears of delight as she told me: "I really

Miss Davis naturally looks older—she has been quite ill in recent years and has had to undergo surgery, but she lights up the stage. She has been on tour with The World of Carl Sandburg for several weeks, but touring with a play even as distinguished as this one is very different from a Broadway opening.

I thought Miss Davis tense. She is enthusiastic about the play and Mr Sandburg is enthusiastic about Miss Davis.

She said: "Mr Sandburg (she doesn't refer to him as Carl) is optimistic about the theatre and so am I. We have been lucky in Norman Corwin."

Ericson lounged in a chair and said he was taking a back seat in all this.

Carl Sandburg, who has been in Hollywood occupying an enormous office in the Twentieth Century-Fox studio, is here for the opening and the publicity.

He doesn't take himself too seriously.

He said: "The World of Carl Sandburg has done very well on tour with Miss Davis and we hope New York will like us."

In all this flurry about Khrushchev's arrival and Broadway's new season, the presidential candidates, Richard Nixon for the Republicans, and Jack Kennedy for the Democrats, have got rather lost.

They look rather like babies in the wood compartment with the ogre Mr K.

WOMANSENSE

Pewter care

by Eleanor Ross

CARE of all pewter, both old and new, is important and has certain definite rules.

Antique pewter should never be polished. The same goes for antique-finished pewter. This type has a high lead content which, in time, causes a natural darkening. Thus, antique-finished pewter eventually develops the patina found on old Oriental pewter that is so highly prized by the connoisseur.

Whatever the type or age of pewter, never place pewter articles where they may rub together. This practice results in dark "burn" marks which mar the lovely surface. Pewter should be kept away from heat, too, as it melts quickly.

Modern Pieces

When selecting pewter for use, judge the weight with care.

The quality of two pewter pieces may seem the same, but the heaviness tells the story. It means that more metal, of heavier gauge was used and so there is less likelihood of denting. More labour and tin are required to make fine, handcast pewter pieces of the type that is almost impossible to dent.

Many modern pieces are of spun pewter, made from a flat sheet. These pieces are very handsome, but they won't take the wear and tear like a handcast kind.

Colour Is Important

Colour is important, too. A brighter, lighter shade indicates a higher lead content. Tin is more expensive than lead, so has a better colour and does not oxidise as readily.

Such pieces as coffee and tea sets, that are used frequently, require only a regular soap and water washing. Accessories that are used only occasionally can be polished now and again to help maintain their luster and keep them clean.

Special Polish

If a regular polish is not readily available, an expert we suggest using wet cigarette ashes applied with a soft flannel. We haven't tried it, so offer the suggestion for those who would like to experiment.

HOW FASHIONWISE IS THE CUT OF YOUR COAT?

by Jean Wiseman

THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 22

AQUARIUS (1) (January 21-Virgo (3) (August 22-September 22): A matter relating to a joint financial interest with a partner will need some very careful handling.

PISCES (4) (February 20-March 20): You may cause some resentment among your associates by too obviously putting your own interests first.

ARIES (8) (March 21-April 19): If you feel that you are not qualified to assess the real value of an object you covet, get an expert opinion.

Taurus (2) (April 20-May 20): It is a mistake on your part to try and carry other people's burdens. They can manage better than you think without your help.

GEMINI (11) (May 21-June 21): On encountering an annoying situation, ascertain the causes which led up to it before letting impatience get the better of you.

CANCER (6) (June 22-July 21): Don't get carried away by some unusually flattering attentions from a member of the opposite sex.

LEO (9) (July 22-August 21): At all costs avoid an argument with a person very close to you. The cause of it is temporary and will soon disappear.

ENGLISH CRICKET AWARDS

TREVOR BAILEY VOTED BEST ALL-ROUNDER

Trevor Bailey, the England and Essex all-rounder, figures among six cricketers who have won the special annual awards of silver cups and cheques for 10 guineas given for the best performances of the English season. The awards are made by a British manufacturer.

The panel of seven judges gave Bailey (known familiarly as "The Barnacle") the special award because of his fine batting and bowling against Yorkshire and Lancashire when both were fighting for the County Championship.

In their view Bailey, at the age of 36, showed no sign of declining power. He scored 1,030 runs (average 39.02) and took 117 wickets (average 20.25). He has now achieved the double six times.

List of awards:

The full list of awards is: Batting: Fastest hundred outside Festival cricket — E. R. Dexter, Sussex vs Somerset at Taunton, 100 in 85 minutes on May 8.

Bowling: Most wickets in one innings — D. Shackleton, Hampshire vs Wurwickshire at Portsmouth, nine for 30 on May 13.

Fielding: Most catches — Peter Walker, Glamorgan, 69 catches.

Wicket-keeping: The best wicket-keeper of the season — I. T. Murray (Middlesex) 102 wickets.

For the fourth year in a row, Murray headed the list, just beating J. G. Binks (Yorkshire) and R. Booth (Worcestershire) by one wicket. He played in fewer matches and in the opinion of the panel was the best wicket-keeper.

Special award for best individual effort not covered by other awards: T. E. Bailey (Essex).

Visitors' awards: Neil Adcock (South Africa) for consistently fine bowling.

The main presentations took place in London today. Neil Adcock and Peter Walker, who are now in South Africa received their prizes last week — Reuter.

USSR already preparing for 1964 Olympics

Moscow, Sept. 21. The Soviet Union, which won 103 medals in Rome, is already looking ahead to the 1964 Olympic Games in Tokyo.

In what is regarded as the first step in the preparation for the Tokyo Games, a team has been entered for the Men's World Handball Championships for 1961.

Handball is one of the four new sports which the Japanese Olympic Organizing Committee intends to include in the 1964 Games.

FIRST APPEARANCE

This will be the first appearance of a Soviet Union team in the World Handball Championships, though they have done well against leading teams in international competition. They twice beat Romania, who were runners-up in the 1959 World Championship.

Handball was taken up in the USSR more than 30 years ago. There are now hundreds of teams, with thousands of players. The game is very popular at the higher educational establishments and in the army, and student and army teams are regarded as the best in the country.

The Soviet Union will enter World Championships in 17 different sports according to the fixtures published today.

These include handball, freestyle wrestling, cycling, skating, weight-lifting, ice hockey and fencing.

A highlight of the sporting season will be the track and field match between the USSR and the United States, to be held in Moscow — Reuter.

European Cup soccer

Arthur, Sept. 21. Arthur, the Danish champions, beat Wks Legia of Poland, 3-0 in the first leg of their European Soccer Cup first round tie here tonight.

The Danes led 1-0 at half-time.

The second leg will be played in Warsaw on October 6 — Reuter.

Mr Athletics provides a shock Tired-out Crump says 'I'm ready to quit now'

By PETER MOSS

London. Mr Jack Crump, tired out after the Olympic Games, wants to give up his post as honorary secretary of the British Amateur Athletic Board.

Soccer news from other lands

There's an awful lot of coffee in Brazil! The Brazilian Coffee Institute has a harvest surplus of 20 million bags, and about 20,000 lbs of it is about to be given away. In a novel manner, too.

The national Soccer side is to tour Europe in 1961 to play six or seven matches, and each spectator will be given a free sample of coffee at the "gate." The institute is also going to subsidise the tour.

When the Brazilian team visited Europe this year they grossed £35,000 profit, but their Football Association retained only £5,500 of this; most of the rest went to clubs to indemnify them for the value of players. The players got some tokens as well as gold medals for winning the World Cup in Sweden. The President handed over the awards personally.

The things they think of in Central America! Mexican psychologists have discovered that blue is a "calming and sleepy" colour, whereas red is "exciting." So they have advised football clubs to paint their home dressing rooms red and those of the visitors blue!

Since 1929, Real Madrid and Barcelona have been bitter rivals for the Spanish League Championship, and in that long time they have each obtained the same number of points—97. Barcelona's goal average is better by seven-thousandths of a point.

The Italian Defence Minister decreed that players doing their National Service would not be allowed to appear for their clubs. There was a big public outcry, and on second thought he rescinded the edict. The professionals now have permission to play, but they will have to serve for 20 months with the Colours instead of eighteen.

There will be no limit to payments to football players in Switzerland according to a new law, but they will be classified as semi-professionals. Despite the removal of the maximum ceiling, they are compelled to have an occupation outside Soccer.

The town of Nancy in France has made a loan of £30,000 at 1 per cent interest to the local League club to buy players.

The famous Milan forwards Fontana and Schiavio have been transferred to Roma FC. Milan received in return inside-forward David, plus £38,000. Juventus, John Charles's club, has paid £55,000 for Palermo goalkeeper Anzolin.

A Russian Second Division club in the town of Kaluga has been named Sputnik FC. Leningrad has found a "School for Goalkeepers" for boys under 13 years of age.

On Parade! The Men Who Make Wolves

CHESS

by LEONARD BARDEN

Though he has dominated administration of British athletics for many years, and has vigorously upheld the value of amateur leadership, this surprisingly was his view:

"Tomorrow would not be too soon for me to go, and my successor should be a paid official.

"The only satisfactory answer is a £3,000-£4,000-a-year secretary, plus secretarial staff.

"We need a Stanley Rous. And I could promise him a jolly sight more support than Sir Stanley gets from some football people."

Crump agrees that the appointment he would like to see is impossible under the present financial circumstances.

Last Olympics

The bumper gate at the White City match—Commonwealth vs United States—can keep us going for another year.

Fast times are changing. The Walsenden Committee on Sport know all about this. We must await their report later this month."

Crump, who is in the publishing business, ended:

"This was definitely my last Olympics. For years I have given more time to athletics than to my own job.

"I don't want to go home and work until midnight any more.

"One gets older. The Rome Olympics were too big, too long. I think we all wanted to come home long before the end."

Then style, lantern-jawed former Wolves, Exeter, and Bristol Rovers' goalkeeper, became a Wolves' scout just before this photo was taken last week—just too late to rush into this Soccer picture of a lifetime.

For these keen-eyed, Soccer-minded men have been the anonymous brigade of Soccer spotters who have loaded Wolverhampton Wanderers with life-winning talent.

Today they are anonymous no more.

Wolves called them together for a one-day scouting conference—and a cameraman was there to record this gathering of men who pour raw 15-year-olds into one end of the Wolves' machine and watch stars emerge from the other.

Judge their worth by these two facts—

Twenty-nine of Wolves' present professional staff of 32 were Molineux amateurs before turning professional.

Wolves' teams won all four of their opening matches on Saturday—by a goal aggregate of 29—2.

Only full-time scout is George Nokes, the master-spotters of the Black Country. The rest? "Some are on retainers," says George, "the rest just get their expenses and we look after them when they find a player."

Bert Hoyle today joins a mighty band of men. Picture shows:

Businessman's advice to HK industry

"The future of local industries lies in consolidation, if Hongkong wants to gain a foothold in the highly competitive world market," a local industrial magnate said today after a two months inspection tour of industries in many parts of the world.

Mr Wong Ding-yuen, whose bid of $14 million almost won him the Murray Parade Ground at the recent auction, told the China Mail this morning that consolidation, mechanisation and automation are the main features of industrial development abroad.

"Soon, when automation comes into full swing, the highly advanced nations will eliminate our only industrial advantage—cheap labour," he said.

Imperative

To hold our own in the world market, it is imperative that our industries should concentrate on mechanisation, automation and higher output of uniform quality."

To do this, he said, local industries would need abundant capital and technicians.

The Hongkong and Shanghai Bank is taken the right step in merging with the Mercantile Bank for that is the trend in the world of business nowadays."

"Only by merging, will local industries be able to secure the large amount of capital necessary for mechanisation, automation, standardisation, of quality, and higher output," he said.

"It will also cut down waste and eliminate cut-throat competition harmful to our industries."

Deplored

He deplored the fact that most Hongkong industries are individual enterprises or family affairs.

"However, the difficulties are not absolutely insurmountable. The important thing is to make them see the advantages of consolidation."

Mr Wong has interests in building, shipbuilding, rubberware, and metal industries as well as finance and foreign trade.

He returned in mid-September from a tour that took him to Britain, West Germany, France, Austria, Holland, Switzerland, Sweden, Italy, Finland, America and Japan.

DOCKYARD WALL NEARS COMPLETION

Soldiers in court

Four soldiers, all of No. 5 Field Regiment, pleaded not guilty to charges of disorderly conduct and resisting arrest on September 22 in Landale-street near Johnston-road, before Mr E. Corbally at Central Magistracy this morning.

The fourth soldier also pleaded not guilty to an additional charge of damaging the interior of the hood of a police jeep.

The four soldiers were Albert Horsley, 21; Peter Brian Tanner, 21; Colin Everett, 21 and Brian Cecil Smith, 22.

He ring has been adjourned until September 30.

Escaped convicts sent back to jail

Two escaped convicts who were arrested by villagers and an off-duty police officer on Lamima Island, were each sentenced to two months' jail by Mr E. Corbally at Central Court this morning.

One of the two convicts was 20-year-old Lo Keung who at the time of his escape was serving a two-year prison term for robbery with violence.

The other, 21-year-old Wong Lin-man, was serving a 10-month prison term for possession of instruments fit for unlawful purposes and simple larceny.

Detective Sub-Inspector Kong Fung-chuk said on September 16, the two broke away from a working party at Chi Ma Wu Prison, Lantao Island.

"They hid in the bushes till nightfall, when they stole a Police Department canoe and rowed to Lamima Island," Inspector Kong said.

The following morning, however, they were detained by a party of villagers, among whom was an off-duty police officer.

They were later found to be escaped convicts.

Ships to exhibit America's products

New York, Sept. 21. The Isbrandtsen Company today announced final plans for its "mobile trade fair," a series of around-the-world traveling exhibits designed to help the sales of American products overseas.

The firm said the U.S. Secretary of Commerce, Mr Frederick H. Mueller, will officiate on September 30 at the launching of the first vessel.

The line's Flying Independent will carry the first exhibit which will consist of the products of 64 companies in the automotive field.

To call at HK

The fair will be shown for two weeks each at the ports of Beirut, Alexandria, Jeddah, Port Sudan, Karachi, Bombay, Singapore, Hongkong, Keeling and Pusan.

About one month after this display leaves New York, a second, devoted to firms in the household appliance field, will start.

Other displays will include building materials, agricultural and road-building equipment, commercial food preparation equipment, drugs and medicines, foods, industrial machinery, office equipment, paper products, sporting goods, and technical machinery.—AP.

Magaloff liked Hongkong audience

By JOHN LUFT

MAGALOFF, who leaves for Japan this evening on a piano forte concert tour, turned critic this morning when he attended a special screening of "Song Without End,"—the life of composer-pianist Franz Liszt.

He went to see what sort of job Bolet, the Cuban pianist had made of the dubbing of the piano forte music for Driv Bogarde stars as Liszt.

The film, with its rapturous audiences gave me the opportunity of asking what Magaloff thought of Hongkong audiences which fill about half of the seats available for "high-brow" recitals.

Magaloff was not to be drawn. He said the Hongkong audience was very good and certainly appreciative, and seeing that Harry Odell was standing next to him, I thought this rather good.

I told Magaloff there was no need to be kind. He said he was not trying to be kind. He said that the atmosphere of a concert in Hongkong was far from provincial, and that the audience, far from making it a social occasion, knew what it was about.

CRITICS

I asked him, in front of Harry Odell, exactly what he thought of the Hongkong music critics. Again he contradicted Mr Odell.

He said the quality of criticism locally was as good as that of any major town in the world, and that it was evident that the critics knew what they were talking about.

When I got back to the office, I looked up the China Mail file and saw that our music critic was describing Magaloff as the best pianist to hit Hongkong, so there were certainly substantial grounds for agreement between critic and performer.

Asked again about his own performance which had the Loke Yew Hall half empty, he refused to be drawn.

8 MONTHS FOR FALSE PRETENCES

A 45-year-old broker, Li Ping, living on the roof of 15 Fleming-road, was sentenced to eight months' jail by Mr Derek Cons at Central Court this morning for obtaining goods by false pretences.

The prosecution's case was that on June 11, Li obtained $3,427.50 worth of press buttons from Leung Yew Lai, David House, by falsely pretending that the goods had been ordered by Lee Loong Trading Co.

Li also fraudulently received 500 yards of nylon mesh from Leung Yew Ltd by falsely pretending that he was doing so for the Sin Kee stall, Pottinger-street, and then sold it to the Sin Kee stall for $3,550.

Detective Sub-Inspector D. G. McNeil prosecuted.

New building proposed

A plan to build an eight-storey block of flats with ground floor shops at 1-3 North-street, Western District was disclosed at the Tenancy Tribunal this morning.

The new building, which will cost $210,000, will not have a lift. It will replace existing 30-year-old houses which are in a bad condition.

Messrs Sun Kwong Kai and Low Kwoon Man are the applicants. They are represented by Mr D. A. L. Wright, who is instructed by Mr Robert Wong of Deacons.

There are 63 opposing tenants and sub-tenants. Some are appearing personally and others are represented by Mr C. L. P. Poon, Mo and Co.; Mr Henry Ho, instructed by Edmund Cheung, and Chace, Mo A. S. Suffield, instructed by W. W. and Co. and Mr P. S. Woo, Members of the Tribunal are: Mr B. V. Rhodes (President); Mr F. R. Gabbott and Mr R. N. Harlech.

All three were produced by Mr Raymond Kinsey on Inter-Church Aid's behalf with photography by Mr James Normington.
